NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N. J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sleep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILDRED T. CUMMINGS, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

LAND REFORMS FOR RUSSIAN PEASANTRY

Associated Press Telegram Petrograd, July 9.—The provisional government has decided to suspend operation of the agrarian law passed in 1906. Without the Duma's consent, M. Stoylin the premier at the time provided for the abolition of communal ownership of peasant land and the substitution of individual ownership. The sponsor for the repeal is the new Socialist minister of agriculture, M. Tcher-noff.

The minister has submitted to the council of ministers ten other bills on land reform, town as well as country. One provides for the better application of science in the work of the ministry of agriculture; another establishes a department of agriculture economy and policy; another regulates the exploitation of forests. In principle the council approved these bills. It is intended to promulgate them speedily leaving for the constituent assembly's direction the basic question of the transfer of the lands of the nobility to the peasantry.

APPROPRIATION OF MILLIONS IS ASKED FOR AERONAUTICS

Associated Press Telegram Washington, July 9.—Congress was asked by Secretary Daniels today to appropriate $45,000,000 for naval aeronautics in addition to the amounts carried in this year's appropriation bill. The navy is working out a considerable and program of its own aside from the great $625,000,000 military aircraft project of the defense council.

"The value of aircraft has been abundantly demonstrated in the present war," said Mr. Daniels today, "and the navy is making efforts to build up an air force of sufficient size to operate as scouts from naval vessels to patrol the waters off the extensive coasts of the United States and our insular possessions, and also to co-operate with naval forces abroad in anti-submarine warfare."

The $45,000,000 recommended will be required to maintain and expand existing schools and stations to establish new stations and training schools and the purchase of necessary aircraft, seaplanes, dirigibles and kite balloons for use on the high seas and from coastal stations at home and in co-operation with our allies.

"The additional personnel required for the operation of the naval aircraft is being enrolled in the naval reserve flying corps."

Brigadier General Squier, chief signal officer and other army experts appeared today before the house military committee to advocate immediate action on the bill providing for the war department's great aviation program.

At the request of General Squier the session was executive. General Squier explained that the 22,635 aircraft desired and engines for them would cost approximately $363,000,000 and the rest of the $625,000,000 would be necessary to man the air fleets and provide for ammunition and supplies.

Secretary Baker, some of the French officers on duty here and others are expected to appear before the committee later on and Chairman Dent hopes to report the bill to the house the last of this week.

Cleveland, July 9.—Detectives today were searching for thieves who broke into the offices of the Cleveland Machine and Supply Company, in a downtown building on the theory they were German agents, seeking valuable papers and specifications connected with the manufacture of munitions. The drawings were removed a month ago to the Columbus plant, he said.

INDIGNATION IS EXPRESSED OVER THE AERIAL RAID

Associated Press Telegram London, July 9.—The morning newspapers subordinate everything to Saturday's air-raid. The comments thereon reflect the popular indignation, while some indulge in spirited condemnation of the government. The country, it is declared, has been humiliated and disgraced in a manner never experienced since the Dutch fleet burned Chatham more than 250 years ago. The incident is described by the most angry commentators as disgraceful alike to the war office and the admiralty and service and the removal of those responsible for the "miserable display of incompetency" is demanded.

Even those comments which are more restrained complain that Great Britain is falling behind in air-craft construction and say it needs speeding up. General Haig's reference to increased German air activity is regarded as highly significant. In all the comments there is the same note of outraged national pride and disgust at the impunity with which the enemy came, raided and departed.

It is remarked also that the aerial attack raises to a practical level the question of a possible absolute devastation of London by air-craft and the infliction of such losses as would amount to a serious military defeat. If a score of enemy machines are able to operate with calm impunity it is asked what will happen if 200 come on, as the Kölnische Zeitung recently urged, a thousand.

Those favoring reprisals natural emphasize their demand while those opposed contend reprisals not only are useless, but would lead to a competition in brutality wherein "the expert will beat the amateur."

Some editors refer to the hope with which advent of the American air forces is awaited anticipating important results therefrom.

In political circles there was a good deal of criticism of the failure on the part of the British air defenses to ward off the German raiders. Free lances in the house of commons are planning to bombard the government with demands for an overhauling of the whole system.

The who favor raids in the reprisal are active and the minister will be asked to state specifically the reasons why no reply is made to the German raids on England. In this the advocates are being backed by the people in the light of recent raids.

Although on Saturday the raiders were in serious condition in most cases they are progressing no further deaths in the two hospitals the largest number of patients in which they were dropped were still searching the land tenements this morning. In several instances the remains of dead men were found. In other cases the bodies of women and children were found. The worst sufferers appeared to be the wives and families of men at the front, who have no means of establishing themselves. They are being cared for by charitable institutions. In official circles it has been def-

LEADING FIGURES IN CHINESE MIX-UP

On the republican side in the present Chinese civil war Tuan Chi Jui, former premier, stands out as the big figure. He is in command of the army which is marching against the Manchus in Peking. President Li Yuan Hung has been stripped of much of his power and is without authority in the northern provinces. Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the leader of the rebellion which drove autocracy from power some years ago, is one of the generals under Tuan Chi Jui. Hsu Shi-Chang is the brains of the monarchical group, although Chang Hsueh sets the credit in the outside world of leading the forces against Chinese republicanism.

It was concluded that 22 German airplanes participated in the raid on London last Saturday. The raiders were of the Gotha type of machines. These are three times the size of the single-seaters and would, therefore, appear to be flying at a third of the height that smaller machines would seem to be. The immense size of the new type also would give the impression that the airplanes were flying slow, whereas they traveled between 70 and 80 miles an hour.

When over London the raiders always were within range of anti-aircraft guns, which the authorities considered many hits though none of the Germans was brought down by the artillery. British air-men often returned from the German lines with machine-punctured helmets and pilots wounded so it is not surprising that the difficult targets were not brought down over London. The raiders flew like geese, a formation most difficult to break up and destroy.

Through the program for London's defenses is completed. It is not claimed that no improvement is possible, as no general ever is satisfied with the size of his army.

NO MISERS WANTED.

People are still talking about the financial crisis they ought to steer while the war lasts. On this subject a cartoonist lately gave some pretty straight and short advice when he said: "Economize, but don't be an Econo-MISER."

The man who knocks out all his regular habits of living, just so he can sit in a darkened room and count his nickels by candle-light, isn't going to help very much—either himself or his neighbors. On the other hand, there will be a lot of help, for all people concerned, in the man who keeps his head first, and his money afterward. He will use his brains to decide where he can save without injury, and at the same time where and how to go on spending and buying.

This is the line which the national economy board, appointed by the president, is trying to do for the whole country. The board wants to keep business moving, but it says there must be some readjustments.
For instance, the American people are now paying 10 per cent on every purchase they make, for the luxury of having their goods delivered.
The national board says we should have fewer unnecessary deliveries, and storekeepers will doubtless be glad to accept this.
The trouble will come in getting the people to put up with the change after twenty years when wages have had every pool of thread delivered by wagon.

Also, the national board wants us to learn more about the use of cotton in woolen goods. Our standard has been "all wool," while countries like England have learned to use much more cotton than we do, and still make more durable garments than ours. With a wool shortage that may reach 100,000,000 pounds next year, we must mend our methods. Finally, in all lines of goods, there must be fewer fancy styles and more dependable staples.
In ways like this we shall be economizing, but not injuring or destroying business.

FOR A CASE OF BLUES.

Cheerful people are warned not to read what follows here. It is not even intended for people who have only occasional fits of the "blues." Indeed, this is meant for persons who are inclined to feel blue pretty near all the time. They may be so depressed by overwork, or by illness, that they have fallen prey to the mistaken idea that life is not worth living.

Often for them the normal ways of getting "cheered up" do no good.
If you suggest some pleasant cause for hope, their tired minds quickly reject it. They can't go to sleep for thinking how bad things are.
Now such people should try saying this to themselves: "Well, things are pretty bad; I don't see how they could be much worse; but at least I am ready and waiting to see how much worse they can get."

This may seem strange doctrine, but it has been known to help many a worried man or woman, when better and more helpful means fail.
In the first place, it relaxes the strain of restless thinking about one's condition. In the second place, there seems to be something sportsmanlike about this proposal that will appeal to a man if he has any good blood left in him at all.
Finally, it gives free play to the instinct of curiosity. At least, one can be curious to see what the next day will bring. Curiosity may have killed many a cat, but curiosity itself is a hard thing to kill. And if a man only stands by "to see how much worse things can get," still

The Art of Ad-Writing

The subject of advertisement writing has been surrounded by a fog of psychology by many writers, who construct elaborate systems before which the ordinary retail ad-writer is bewildered. The subject is really simple. It is a question of getting the most facts into small space without crowding the type.

J. D. Logan, formerly of Seigel-Cooper Co., New York, gives specimens of ads, following these general lines, illustrative of different types of ad-writing:

No. 1. No Flour so Good as
PURITY FLOUR.
John Smith & Co.

No. 2. Bread Baked from
PURITY FLOUR.
Will make you smile all over your face and half way down your back.

No. 3. USE PURITY FLOUR.
So rich that it tastes good even without butter. Makes good bread than other brands. You can depend on it in the baking.
John Smith & Co.

No. 1 keeps pounding on the idea that John Smith sells Purity flour.
It helps make an impression on the public, but does not convince the man from Missouri.

No. 2 tries to attract attention by being smart. When such ads succeed, their wit may attract attention enough to make up for lack of argument. But the average writer does better to stick to real fact and argument.

No. 3 gives three reasons why Purity flour is better. From its appearance of sincerity and substantial fact, it should sell the most goods.

MEXICO SEEING THE LIGHT.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)

Mexico's interests and ideals preclude her taking sides with Germany.
The trend of events makes it virtually impossible for any country, save those whose propinquity to Germany requires a semblance of neutrality if they are not to become active belligerents, to avoid a positive declaration of attitude. So it is to be expected Mexico soon will align itself with the Entente Allies in accordance with the forecast from El Paso. Carranza may still entertain a spirit of resentfulness against the United States; he may have no friendly feeling for the British; but he cannot fail to see on which side the Mexican bread the butter is spread. Beyond that he must realize that if Mexico is to achieve anything of its worthy aspirations to independence under which it can work out its national destiny in its own way, its country cannot hold aloof from the great democracies of the world.

Mexico's great need today is capital with which to develop its resources. It can secure capital only by marketing its products. The most important of these are raw materials greatly needed by the warring nations. The Entente countries are the only ones, to which deliveries can be made and which can pay for what they take. Obviously, Mexican commerce depends upon Carranza's maintaining good relations with the United States and its Allies. And good faith must be observed by Mexico. Germany can grant her no relief and no favors now; the future holds no prospect that German goodwill will be valuable in the future.
Mexico must accord the Allies commercial opportunities commensurate with their requirements. Thus she will provide for her immediate needs and secure a guarantee of protection to her national rights in the years to come. All the troubles of Mexico in the past have been due to the despotism of the ruling class there. As the boom of every revolt has been the popular desire for freedom. That has been realized under Carranza as never before. It is not to be made secure by an alignment, secret or open, with a power whose ideals and policies are diametrically opposed to those of the Mexicans.
Frank dealing with the Allies, whole-hearted support of their cause, which is Mexico's also, is the only safe course for it.

switchman at the intersection of a street railway line in New York, deserted his job the other day, and didn't show up for several hours, greatly to the annoyance and inconvenience of the traffic. But he had an excuse—and the excuse "went."
When asked why he left his post, the boy said, in his simple way:
"Boss, I had to run away from temptation. A band passed, and I knowed it staid two minutes more.
I'd follow that band. I can't stay away from no band no time." Few of us are as wise as the colored boy; we have not learned the art of running away from temptation. All of us are prone to follow bands—of some kind; we can't control ourselves when the right kind of strains reach us. But we follow blindly, often, and fall into trouble, because we haven't the wisdom of the little negro, he run away until the temptation has passed.

SEDITIONARY ACTIVITY.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Persons who circulate petitions asking Congress to pass or to repeal a certain law would, under ordinary circumstances, be acting well within their rights, but when they select a time of war for their activities and the object of their attack is the measure upon which the country relies to raise the force necessary for its self-preservation their course becomes so unpatriotic, to say the least, that vigorous means for their suppression are entirely justified. Of the 13 men and women arrested for distributing in West Philadelphia pamphlets attacking the Conscription law as "obnoxious and unconstitutional" four are reported to be aliens who have no intention of becoming citizens of the United States. The effrontery of such individuals almost passes belief. They have come here from foreign lands for the purpose of bettering their condition, and presumably they have succeeded. They have found work at good wages, and in all probability have saved money, with a view of returning to their native countries and establishing themselves in business there. While here they have enjoyed the protection of the laws in an equal degree with full-fledged citizens.

No country can allow outsiders of this kind or its own people to seek to discredit it at a time when it is engaged in a deadly struggle involving the fundamental principles upon which it is founded. If aliens do not like our laws they should either leave the country or keep silent.
Citizens must also be taught that there are orderly processes for the repeal of obnoxious laws and that public demonstrations that lead to disturbances cannot be tolerated at a time like the present. The Conscription law was passed by overwhelming majorities in both Houses of Congress and represents the views of the vast majority of the people of the United States. Attacks upon it almost on the very eve of the draft have a seditious appearance and should be vigorously repressed.

KERENSKY.

(New York Sun.)

The great hour almost invariably produces the great man. Is Kerensky the great man of the Russian revolution? Is he destined to be its Washington, rather than its Napoleon, leading it through the stormy seas of war into the haven of peaceful democracy, rather than distorting its hard-won democracy into an ultimate imperialism?

In a sense Kerensky's was the first voice of the real revolution. It was he who after listening to the Czar's edict dissolving the Duma rose in his place and said: "We will not go.
We will stay here." His instinct for leadership was infallible. The Duma stayed, and so staying accomplished the first act of the revolution—an act destined to be as historic as the refusal of the States General of France to dispose at the command of Louis.

That instinct of leadership was impressively manifested when, on the first day of July, he called to the soldiers to charge the German trenches, declaring that if they failed he would make the assault alone. It was precisely the note of personal appeal, the cry of individual valor needed by an army beleaguered by German agents, perplexed by intrigue, hesitant and vacillating in its conception of its duty. With a roar and a rush the troops responded, and Russia is once more to be counted upon as a factor in the war.

It was such a stroke as Napoleon in the magnetic appeal of his youth applied more than once to the revolutionary soldiery of France and never once failed.

"By the Sea."
Since some one has mentioned the loss of her shoes!
Which occurred on the beach by the sea.
It is now up to Bill to tell you if he will Just how this strange happening could be.
But it seems that friend Bill would much rather keep still.
He would sooner the tale not be told,
But it's different with me so please listen and we
This strange story will try to unfold.

We were resting at ease in the cool ocean breeze,
As contented as mortals could be,
And it seemed no soul had come out for a stroll
On the morning but Willie and me.
Not a sound could be heard but the whirr of a bird
As it winged its way over the lea,
And the noise of the spray as it rushed in to play
In the sand by the side of the sea.

I was lost in a dream when a sudden sharp scream
Unraveled my thoughts with a rush.
And I looked straight at Bill who sat bright and still
With the low, whispered warning word, hush!
As I followed his gaze I could see in an eye
Tripping lightly down over the turf,
A dainty young slip of a girl for a dip in the warmth of the velvety surf.

She stopped close to our nook while with one anxious look
She swept all the beach far and near.
But by good luck or chance we were missed by her glance.
Tho' we trembled and shivered with fear.
Oh I never knew Bill was so curious until
That moment, and to his surprise.
In a whisper I said, do please, lower your head
And for goodness sake cover your eyes!

It was thus we both sat till the patter,< pat, pat
Of two tiny and very white feet,
Told as plain as could be that at last
We were free.
For the vision had vanished from sight,
Then without more ado we slipped quickly from view.
To a hidden cove not far away,
And ever long were afloat in our own little boat
Sailing gaily out over the bay.

It was then Bill confessed that which you may have guessed.
But your patience I'll no more abuse.
For in some unknown way, how or when I can't say
He had taken the fair bather's shoes!
It's no wonder that she waited there anxiously
With her feet buried deep in the sand, While a couple of loons with eyes big as balloons
Rowed in and proceeded to land.

P. S.
Ah! Forged it I wonder if you can recall.
That one day in life most surprising of all.
When two guys in a boat hurried in from the sea
To bring back the articles you longed to see.
And I wonder my friend if you'll ever forget
What you thought when you found they were not even wet!
But the mystery will never be cleared up until You get all the facts from that young rascal, Bill!

PREDICT WOMAN WILL BE HEAD OF NATIONAL BOARD

(Associated Press Telegram)
Portland, Ore., July 9.—"We have had meetings of the National Education Association that were larger attended than the present one," said President Robert Alley, just before the opening today of the annual convention of that body, "but I believe we never have had a more important one, nor one honored by a more distinguished attendance."

A business meeting of the national council of education was the first important event of the day, followed by the annual meeting of the board of directors.

At the meetings to be held later today by the various state delegations, it was expected support would crystallize for various candidates for president. Preponderance of opinion was that a woman would be elected president this year.

HOW TO CAN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES THE ONE-PERIOD COLD-PACK METHOD

Washington, July 9.—Don't let valuable surplus fruits and vegetables go to waste. Adults and children in a very few hours, with little other home equipment than a wash boiler and can and jars, can preserve much valuable perishable food for next winter's use. Succulent vegetables and fruits are important to health the year round. See that your table is supplied.

The simple one-period cold-pack method described is that taught by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the boys and girls of the canning clubs in the northern and western states. With this method thousands of boys and girls each season put up vast quantities of fruits and vegetables. With this method practically every vegetable and fruit grown in this section can be canned.

The wash-boiler method described below is entirely effective. Those who desire may purchase home-size water-seal, steam pressure or pressure cooker canning outfits which save time and fuel.

Preliminary Preparation.
Provide a false bottom of wooden lattice work, cross pieces of wood, or coarse wire netting for your clean wash boiler or other large, deep vessel to be used for sterilizing.

Fill the vessel with clean water so that the boiling water will cover the tops of the jars or cans. Begin heating the water so that it will be boiling violently by the time the containers are packed.

See that all cans or jars are in good condition and absolutely clean. Seal them thoroughly. Use new rubber rings and seal them just before putting them on the jars.

Preparing Fruits and Vegetables.
Start with clean hands, clean utensils, and clean, sound, fresh products.

Throw out all vegetables and fruits which are withered or unsound. Wash out all grit and dirt. If possible, use only fruits and vegetables picked the same day and never can peas and corn picked more than five hours.

Prepare fruits and large-sized vegetables for blanching. Remove all spots from apples.

Prepare beans and greens as for cooking. Be especially careful to remove all foreign plants from the greens.

Blanch vegetables and all fruits except berries by leaving them from 3 to 5 minutes in clean boiling water.

Remove the blanched products from the boiling water and plunge them quickly into cold water, the colder the better. Take them out immediately and let them drain. Don't let them soak in the cold water.

From this point on, speed is highly important. The blanched vegetables and fruits, which are slightly warm, must not be allowed to remain out of the jars a moment longer than is necessary.

Remove skins required, and as each article is pared cut it up into proper size and pack directly into the clean, scalded cans or jars.

Pack as solid as possible, being careful not to bruise or mash soft products.

In the case of fruit, fill the containers at once with boiling hot sirup.

In the case of vegetables, fill the containers with boiling hot water to which a little salt has been added. Place scalded rubber rings on the glass jars and screw down the tops. Seal tin cans completely. Watch them for leaks. As the preliminary treatment has taken care of expansion it is not necessary to exhaust the cans.

How to Sterilize or Process.
Put the jars or cans as soon as possible into boiling water in a wash boiler or into your canning device. Let them process for the time specified in the table, counting from the time the water begins to boil again, or the gauge on the canning outfit registers the proper pressure.

Time schedule given is based upon the one quart pack and upon fresh picked products.

When processing fruits in steam pressure canners, not over 5 pounds of steam pressure should be used.

When processing vegetables and meats do not use over 15 pounds of pressure.

After processing, remove the containers. Tighten the tops of jars immediately and stand the containers upside down in a cool place, being careful that no draft strikes the hot jars. Watch for leakage and screw covers down tighter when necessary. Store in a cool, dry place, not exposed to freezing temperature.

Use band labels for jars, being careful not to let the glass get on the can itself as it may cause rust.

From time to time, especially in very hot weather, examine jars and cans, making certain that there are no leaks, swellings or other signs of fermentation.

There will be no spoilage if the directions are followed implicitly and the containers are sealed up tight.

Fruits which are put up with heavy sirups can be kept under cork and paraffin seal. Save all wide-necked bottles, glasses and jars for putting up fruits.

Vegetables, meats and fish, however, can not be kept safely unless they are hermetically sealed. Reserve regular jars for products that can not be packed in other ways.

UNCLE SAM'S THRIFT THOUGHT FOR TODAY

By U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Do you throw away "ham gravy" or bacon fat, Madam Housewife, because it is too greasy for ordinary use?

Here is a way suggested by the United States Department of Agriculture to make it blend into soups or gravies instead of floating as a greasy layer on top.

Stir into each two tablespoons of melted grease one-half tablespoon of flour. The mixture will blend easily into milk soups, stock soups, sauces or gravies and give an appetizing flavor.

Milady's Boudoir
Women with sensitive skins often cannot go out in inclement weather. If your skin is delicate, it need not keep you from going out if you will give it reasonably good care. A coat of good skin-food cream, well rubbed in and dusted over with rice talcum powder, should be applied before leaving the house.

This will prevent the wind from drying and chapping it too severely. It is quite fatal, too, to bathe the skin immediately before or soon after exposing it, for this takes the oil from the skin and causes it to chap.

On coming inside it is best to rub a massage cream on the face, and, after allowing it to remain on long enough to soften the skin surface, wipe it off with a soft muslin.

Do not let loose powder on the face all night. It will ruin the most beautiful skin eventually, and its effect is nothing short of disastrous. Powder is usually put on over a coating of cold cream to make it stick. This paste, left on all night, clogs all the pores. The skin habituated to this treatment is pasty, sallow and without life. Usually the pores are enlarged from the deposits of powder.

It seems quite simple to slip into bed at once when you are tired and it is hard to take the time and energy to give your face a good cleansing. But really it is worth the effort. Ten minutes spent in washing out all vestige of cosmetics will keep your skin lovely.

The nightly cleansing should be most thorough. If properly done, all that will be necessary in the morning will be a cold sponge. All the dust and dirt of the day has settled on the face, besides the cold cream and powder, and it needs a good scrubbing to get it off.

Our Boys and Girls
Every mother likes to see her small daughter look dainty at all times. But girls, as well as boys, get their clothes soiled at play, and while boys can be put into overalls or rompers, according to their age, few mothers will like to see their little daughters dressed in their homely garments. But there will be no objection to miniature bangalow aprons on the order of those worn by the mothers, especially if a pretty color is chosen. These

AMERICAN CAMP KITCHENS AREN'T AS ELABORATE AS THOSE OF EUROPEAN BELLIGERENTS, BUT FOOD SERVED IS THE BEST

Camp kitchen at an American navy training station.

American camp kitchens are not quite so well equipped as the kitchens of some of the European belligerents in the field, but this little defect will doubtless be remedied. In the meantime, American fighting men may content themselves with the assurance that the rations they get are as abundant and wholesome as are served to any other warriors in the world.

GENERAL DISARMAMENT IS FAVORED BY THE MINORITY SOCIALISTS

[Associated Press Telegram]

Stockholm, July 9.—Immediate conclusion of peace conditions which shall include the establishment of an international committee to bring about general disarmament is the demand of the International Proletariat, according to German minority Socialists who have just issued a lengthy memorandum.

Economic isolation of states are condemned, the memorandum continues, and obligatory international arbitration should be instituted.

Equal rights of all inhabitants of any country, regardless of nationality, race or religion, is an imperative necessity. Other recommendations are:

Secret treaties must be abolished.

Modifications of frontiers must depend on the consent of the populations concerned and must not be effected by violence.

Annexations and indemnities shall be fixed on the basis of the right of nations to decide their own destinies.

Re-establishment of Serbia as an independent autonomous state is necessary.

The aspirations of the Polish people toward national unity is understood but to concede right of autonomy to Russian-Poland and refuse it to Prussian and Austrian-Poland is irreconcilable with the right of nations to decide their own

destinies.

Continuation of the war to establish this right as well as to solve the question of Alsace-Lorraine is condemned. An opportunity ought to be given Alsace-Lorraine to decide by referendum to which country it wishes to belong.

MRS. FRED GLEICHAUF

ISSUES A STATEMENT; SAYS TRIAL GARBLED

"To the People of Newark: Having heard of the terrible tales that have been circulated over the city, and as I realize the feeling that exists, owing to these stories, I now implore you to withhold judgment, until the real truth is revealed. Yours truly, Mrs. Fred Gleichauf."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gleichauf returned on Sunday from Grand Rapids, Mich., where they have been for two weeks and upon their return Mrs. Gleichauf issued the above statement, which is a sequel to a hearing in the juvenile court, previous to their trip, regarding the alleged neglect of Thomas Gleichauf, the three year old son of Mr. Fred Gleichauf.

The case was heard in the court several weeks ago after complaints had been filed with the humane society. Mrs. Gleichauf when asked concerning the matter today stated that she did not deem that opportunity had been given them to present their case with witnesses and attorney.

She stated that the accounts of the trial had been garbled and that she was going to hold those who had been instrumental responsible. When asked if a suit would be brought, she refused to make a statement.

After the hearing in the juvenile court over the care of the grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Gleichauf of North Fourth street.

Mrs. Gleichauf denied today that anything more than circumstantial evidence had been presented. She said she was a stranger in the city, and that she refused to remain under the stigma of not state in what manner she would seek redress.

GRAND LODGE OF ELKS IN SESSION AT BOSTON TODAY

Boston, July 9.—This city was given over today to the thousands of delegates and visitors to the annual convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Preparations long under way for their entertainment had been completed and buildings in many sections were elaborately decorated in their honor. The grand lodge session will be formally opened tonight with James R. Nicholson, past grand exalted ruler, presiding.

The political side of the convention was greatly in evidence today. Chief interest lay in the contests for the office of Grand Exalted Ruler between Fred Harper, of Lynchburg, Va., and John W. Stevens, of Fulton, N. Y. The election will be held tomorrow.

FLAG RAISING AT JOHNSTOWN

Great crowds thronged Johnstown on Sunday afternoon when a flag-raising and patriotic meeting was held at the Church of the Ascension in that city. A beautiful flag, presented by Newark Council, No. 721, Knights of Columbus, was unfurled under the auspices of the knights.

The meeting was an impressive one and was participated in by thousands. The Knights of St. John attended in full uniform, and other organizations having large representations were the Women's Relief Corps, the Old Guard, drum corps, Buckeye band and the Hibernian Rifle band from the Columbus O. A. H.

The master of ceremonies, Arthur E. Willert, grand knight, responded to the words of welcome by the mayor of Johnstown, J. C. Needles, and presented the flag to the town.

Rev. Father William C. O'Brien, pastor of the church, accepted the flag, giving a most eloquent address which touched on the paramount topics of the day. Rev. Father O'Brien is a former Newark boy, and is a speaker of unusual interest.

The flag was raised to place by Mayor Needles, after it had been blessed by Rev. Father Leyden of Columbus, and Rev. Father Cuth of New Lexington. The audience sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" as it was unfurled. As the flag climbed to its place the military salute was fired by the Old Guard, who made the trip to Johnstown in motor trucks.

Rev. Father C. H. A. Watterson, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament church, East Main street, this city, talked in an inspiring way on the theme of "Patriotism." An excellent address full of inspiration and enthusiasm was given by Attorney Ray Marks of Newark, who talked of "The Flag."

The ceremonies concluded with the singing of "Holy God," by the choir and audience.

NEWARKITES LEAVE FT. BENJ. HARRISON

Vernon Priest of North Fifth street, and Byron Pryor of Oakwood avenue, returned home from camp Ft. Benjamin Harrison Saturday.

Both of the men were rejected because of physical reasons. Mr. Priest injured his ankle in an auto accident last fall and was disqualified for that reason. Mr. Pryor lost weight from vaccination and typhoid prophylactic, and for that reason was refused.

Their physical examination was held July 4 and they got their orders and were paid off July 5. Mr. Pryor intends to make application to enter the second camp.

Captain Priest and Mr. Pryor had first-class records in camp and were both disappointed at the result of their physical examination. In every other respect they stood high, but Mr. Priest's injury to his ankle and Mr. Pryor's loss of weight following vaccination caused the order which terminated their connection with the officers' training camp.

Muggins—"Wigwag has stopped buying those expensive presents for his best girl. I wonder what's up?"

FRIEND'S ADVICE COST H. C. HUNTER JUST A DOLLAR

The Dollar Brought a Bottle of Nerv-Worth With Resulting Blessings You Can't Put a Price On.

And Mr. Hunter's ailments were serious. They had roots to 'em. Had lasted a year. Let him tell you how they vanished:

"I have been having stomach trouble. I think it was nervous indigestion. I was very nervous. Did not sleep well. Poor appetite. Worn out feeling. No ambition. Tired in the morning when I'd get up. This condition has been of one year's standing. Doctored some, taken lots of medicine, but got very little relief. I finally was persuaded to try Nerv-Worth and ONE BOTTLE BROUGHT THE ANSWER. I'm better all around. Sleep well, appetite good, nervousness about all gone and I want to say Nerv-Worth is the best medicine I've ever taken. I give Nerv-Worth the credit of reaching my case."

"H. C. HUNTER,"
174 Zane St., Wheeling.

The T. J. Evans Drug Store will hand your dollar back if Nerv-Worth does not do for you what it did for Mr. Hunter. Use Nerv-Worth Laxative Tablets in connection with Nerv-Worth Tonic. 25c a box. A combination without an equal.

At Hebron the Hebron Drug Store sells Nerv-Worth; at Utica, the Utica Drug Store; at Granville, W. P. Uhlman; at Johnstown, C. S. Howard.

Granville

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, July 9.—The customary Sunday automobile procession through "our town" was pleasingly varied yesterday afternoon by the patriotic procession on its way from Newark to Johnstown for the flag-raising. Stopping at Main street to allow the procession to re-form, the brass band in the lead woke the echoes with a lively selection or two, followed by a patriotic selection by a rifle and drum corps. The long line of busses and autos gave promise of co-operation and enthusiasm in the important ceremony in the neighboring village.

Miss Grace Chamberlin, the Granville librarian, is in Columbus taking the library course in the O. S. U. summer school.

Kenneth Ullman, '16, who has been spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ullman, left today for Dayton. Mr. Ullman has been with the Memphis branch of the Deico Manufacturing Co., for nearly a year, but in the necessary re-adjustment of office forces he was transferred to the Dayton office last week.

Harold Kier, '16, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kier on the Newark road. He is one of Granville's enlisted men awaiting orders.

Ned Putnam, '17, will leave Granville this evening or tomorrow for Cleveland where he will engage in business with his father, Mr. H. C. Putnam.

A lady who recently visited Granville and who among other social attentions was entertained at "Oakdene," Mrs. Ogden's tea house on Broadway, was enthusiastic in her expressions of appreciation. "It is wonderful," she said. "We have nothing like it in Dayton. Only a town like Granville could produce anything so quaint and so typical of New England. I wonder if Granville people appreciate that an interior like this is one of the town's charming assets?"

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones entertained with a family dinner Sunday, having as guests their sister, Mrs. Margaret Halderman, their nephew and niece, Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lucas of Louisville, Ky., with their little daughter, Margaret, and their mother, Harry Halderman, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Lucas and daughter left yesterday for their home.

Many of the Granville women are as conscientious in devoting their Tuesdays to war relief work as they are in observing their Sundays for church going. Only illness or absence from town prevent their attendance. Those who have not as yet taken part in this work are urged to join the workers. There is plenty of room for everybody, and work for all who wish to work. The rooms are open all day Tuesdays.

Dr. Willis A. Chamberlain has been spending a week at Lake Chautauque, New York.

The Reason.
An English militant crusader strolled into a barn where a young man was milking a cow. With a snort, she asked: How is it that you are not at the front, young man?
Because, ma'am, answered the milker, there ain't no milk at that end.—Atlanta Journal.

It is really when a man sees his finish that he has the most difficulty in keeping his end up.
